know is to any individual a lasting benediction and blessing.

Rev. Hobbs is a good preacher, a splendid singer and Christian gentleman whom to know is to respect.

When Burke and Hobbs will have conducted a meeting in Lutesville three weeks, old Bollinger county will have been influenced for good from center to circumference and the tent will have from 800 to 1500 every night. Our meeting often had 1200.

I pray and hope that every Christian in the county will pray to the end that this shall be a great revival for good in the county I love so much.

FEBRUARY 4, 1914.

Hill & Chandler.

Gentlemen: Will write you a few lines asking you to send me my old home paper. I am now a resident of the above named city.

We are having fine weather—only one frost this year so far, altho it has rained a good deal. About twelve inches of rain has fallen here this winter.

Crops look fine. When I landed here in October, the hills and country around that was not irrigated, looked like a desert, but since the rains everything is as green as old Bollinger is in the month of May.

People come here from the east when the country looks the best and leave in the spring before the sun dries everything up so it looks like a desert. Consequently, they do not see the country at its worst.

This is a city for rich people, as there is very little work for the laboring man to do. The Southern Pacific railroad shops work more men than any other company in the city except the street car companies. The Southern Pacific shops have laid off two-thirds of their men. Lots of men out of jobs here.

They have some fine newspapers out here. They even picture the Los Angeles river with steamboats on it and people picking oranges on the banks, when in reality the river is as dry as the highest hill in Bollinger county from nine to ten months in the year and the rest of the year you could not float a good sized fishing boat on it.

The only thing I see here for anyone is the climate. The roses are in full bloom now. I went to the Redonde beach Saturday, January 31, and it was so warm that I didn't need any coat. The tide is very high when it comes in, about 10 feet. It looks pretty big to a Bollinger county like.

There are a good many moon stones coming in, one of which I am sending you. They are very pretty when polished.

Best wishes to THE PRESS and all Bollinger county friends.

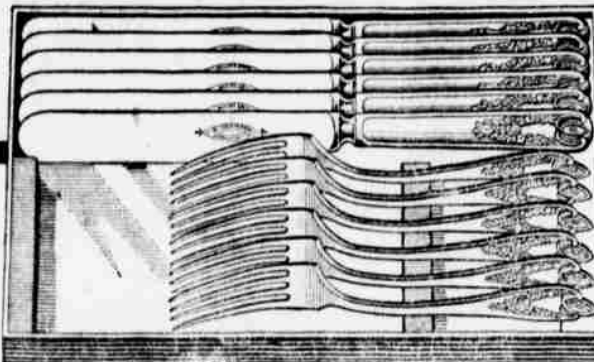

Yours truly,

WILL BOLLINGER.

Big Southeast Missouri High School Meet

The ninth annual meet of the High schools included in the twenty-seven counties of the Third Normal school district will be held at Cape Girardeau May 8 and 9, 1914, and promises to be the largest ever held in the southeast. From information now in the hands of the business manager it is believed that there will be from seventy-five to one hundred high schools with 400 contestants at the big meeting. Dozens of high schools which have never before been represented at Cape Girardeau have this early signified their intention of getting "in the game." The contests this year will include Athletics, Essays, Declamations and Extempore Debating, and will be more spirited than ever. Athletic practice has already been taken up in many schools and many others have begun work on declama-while the other half is in constant fear of being invited out for fear I will have to search for jobs and for money it has been a year for six cylinder cars or butches of luxury sausage. There may be other varieties of the social evil, but I don't know until this one is solved, I won't use to waste time and effort upon them.

Obituary

All that was mortal of Mrs. Alma Hindman, daughter of Lewis and Kate Hindman, was laid to rest in the Union Hill cemetery, January 3, 1914. She was born February 22, 1912, and passed away January 2, 1914, of whooping cough. For three weeks the little one suffered with the dreadful disease and remained conscious to the last.

Alma's life was short, but it was sufficiently long to endow itself to the household and bring to it new hopes and joys. Only a few happy circles have been broken by the great loss that has come to this home. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Baker, at the cemetery. Alma was a bright child and the center of much love in her family. Little Alma is with the angels and the great and good Shepherd, who died that one might live.

The bereaved family has the sincere sympathies of all.

Fathers and Mothers

Chicago's court of domestic relations furnishes statistics on the causes of family troubles settled in that tribunal. The figures show that, in Chicago, at least, the husband is to blame for most of the domestic tragedies—he drinks too much, he is too immoral, too ill-tempered.

The court's annual report says that 46 per cent of all family dissensions brought before the judges is due to drunkenness. The proportion of other offenses follows: Immorality of husband, 12 per cent; immorality of wife, 2 per cent; ill-temper of husband, 8 per cent; ill-temper of wife, 3 per cent; interference by father-in-law, 1 per cent; youth of parties, 4 per cent; laziness of husband, 3 per cent.

While the figures apply directly only to Chicago, it is a fairly safe assumption that they are representative of contributing causes of family jangles everywhere. There is no question about husbands being the worst offenders as to drinking and that class of offenses called immoral. But the figures on ill-temper should be illuminating to husbands, and especially so, in view of the fact that in this court men are the judges.

Women seem to rank high except as to mothers-in-law, in which capacity they do six times as much damage as men in the role of fathers-in-law. Even the wife's ill-temper is called "temperament" by the Chicago judges, indicating, perhaps, that they have given her the benefit of justice tempered with mercy. —Oregon Journal.
